Determined to resist the rising darkness, he and his loved ones prepare for a battle against forces no human has ever faced.

During a violent encounter, Shadow Cop is shot and slips into a coma, where God reveals to him two possible futures—one guided by faith and unity, and one ruled by destruction under the reptilian agenda. When he awakens, much of the world is already in ruins, but the divine message gives him purpose. Shadow Cop unites his community, inspiring them to rise against the invaders. Here is our storyboard and movie trailer. This project was done in 2010. Since then our movie script is now Hollywood material. I retired from the police department in Washington, DC, after 26 years. I also worked with the kids of the Boys and Girls Club, where we worked on film projects. I'm still in touch with the youth. This would be outstanding P.R
